UltraClenz Introduces its Newest Hand Hygiene Dispensing System - ProClenz

Florida – August 21, 2008 – UltraClenz, LLC, a Florida based hand hygiene technology firm, introduces ProClenz, a complete and comprehensive Hand Hygiene System that dispenses foam, liquid, soaps & sanitizers while accommodating a universal base & cover for easy field upgradeability from manual to touch-free. Its easy convertibility allows for this dispenser to fulfill most hand hygiene requirements and requests in the sanitation industry today.

Marina Willis, President of UltraClenz, commented, “After 10 years of research and development, UltraClenz has designed its most robust hand hygiene system. Our engineering focus has always aimed at designing simple and cost effective solutions while fulfilling a significant need in the global market today. ProClenz has exceeded market expectations and encompasses the requirements set forth by our current client base.”

ProClenz is equipped with a proprietary keyed system which protects our client’s investment. A unique key code is optionally available to offer further protection. This is a cartridge based system that supports both lotion and foam. Lotion and foam cartridges are distinguishable from each other via color coding.

This ADA compliant dispenser offers activation range selection for ease of placement along with pump speed control giving the user the option to select between high and low speeds to prevent splattering due to low viscosity chemicals. A status LED indicates various states of the unit including low battery, dead battery or dispenser obstructions. A permanent or removable cover latch key comes with the unit as a standard feature. The option is available for a custom cover design and private labeling. ProClenz is capable of being upgraded into our various monitoring systems.

ProClenz will be available to qualified customers in the 4th quarter of 2008. Orders are currently being taken and presentations are being conducted by the UltraClenz sales team today.
